Literacy Practices

Instructions in English, should reflect the literacy block structure describes below:

Literacy Dedicated Time (LDT)
WHOLE CLASS FOCUS Modelled or Shared Reading (15 minutes)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An interactive reading session initiated by the teacher. • This session should centre the children on the task of reading, recalling specific strategies or ideas already presented in class. • A new skill or concept could also be introduced briefly, but should not be laboured During modelled/ shared reading, the teacher might: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Demonstrate a specific reading strategy, (e.g. self-correcting). • Focus on grammatical knowledge, (e.g. simile use in a narrative). • Focus on new vocabulary/ word meanings, (e.g. “catastrophe”). • Focus on word knowledge, (e.g. the prefix ‘de-’). • Focus on punctuation, (e.g. apostrophes for possessive nouns). • Focus on literal and/ or inferential comprehension questions and comprehension strategies.
TEACHER LED FOCUS Groups/ Independent Activities Small Group/ Independent Reading Activities (25 minutes)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The teacher selects a reading strategy from- Read To, Shared Reading, Independent Reading, Guided Reading, Guided Reading- Reciprocal Teaching, and Independent Reading. • Monitoring of student reading should occur at this time (e.g. while the teacher is taking a small group for Guided Reading). • Activities are organised for students to practice reading skills and knowledge. • Activities involve reading more than writing. • Activities can be completed in small groups or individually, however small group interaction is favoured. Guided Reading <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Students grouped according to reading level. - Texts selected to suit each group. - Ensure that the rest of the class is working purposely. - Orient students to the text (e.g. introduce the title, introduce potentially difficult words, activate students’ background knowledge, etc.). - Listen to each student read independently, supporting and prompting where necessary (e.g. showing students how they could use a particular reading strategy to support their reading). - Make notes about student reading.

Faith - Respect - Teamwork - Challenge

ST MARY'S LITERACY PLAN

	- With each group, focus on a particular teaching point (e.g. sight words, punctuation, a specific reading strategy, etc.). Independent Reading - May take place while teacher is taking a guided reading group. - Students read a book matched to their independent reading level. - Following independent reading, students may form into small groups or work independently to respond to their text in some way (e.g. providing an oral retell, describing one of the characters, etc.).
WHOLE CLASS FOCUS Word Work (20 minutes)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Teacher initiated focus on words, allows students to investigate common word construction/ knowledge. • The focus highlights how words work, rather than how a specific word is spelt (e.g. why some words have 'ay' and others have 'ai' – i.e. 'ai' comes in the middle of words, whereas 'ay' is generally used at the end of a word). • Word work activities include word sorts, syllable sorts, playing a homonym game, etc. • This session may involve small group investigation after being initiated by the teacher.
Modelled/ Shared Writing (15 minutes)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • This session centres students on the task of writing. • Each day, an aspect of writing is introduced or further discussed as a text is constructed. Focus skills/ topics include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – purpose of the text – structure of the text – vocabulary – spelling/ connection to an aspect of word work already discussed – punctuation – layout – grammar
TEACHER LED FOCUS Small Group/ Independent Writing Activities (25 minutes)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students engage in a writing task related to what has happened in the modelled/ shared writing session. • Whilst students are working independently/ with a partner/ in small groups, the teacher should work with a small group of students based on a common identified need. Teachers should support the guided writing group to individually create their own text. After the small group focus, teachers should circulate around the classroom in order to assist individual students. Teachers could discuss the developing text with students, asking such questions as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – What is our purpose/ Why are we writing this text? – Who are we writing for? – What kind of language do we need to use? – What is the best way we can get our message across? – How can we work out the spelling of this word? – How should we organise the different sections of this text? – What should we leave in or take out?

ST MARY'S LITERACY PLAN

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Can you think of a more effective adjective? - Do we need to define this technical term? - What tense should we be using? - This sentence is a bit confusing. How can we make it clearer? - How would this sentence sound if we split it in two? - How are we going to end the text? - Let's look at the writing plan we made earlier. Is it still working okay? - What sort of punctuation are we missing here?
WHOLE CLASS FOCUS Reflection (5 minutes)	Students have an opportunity to articulate the learning that has taken place during the session. The importance of metacognition is well documented and should have a valued place in the program daily. At first, such thinking and articulation may need to be modelled. This time is not an opportunity for students to show completed work without the direction to articulate learning.
